The 70's came in with the environmental crisis
And we each had our personal crises to face.
For some term papers, exams,
And decisions on the future were enough.
For others the crisis spread to a concern for action
And the question, "What should we do now?"

We were challenged to move with the times:
Boycott grapes, mobilize on Moratorium Day,
Be concerned about ecology, clean up Camille's debris.
Some wanted to find God's will through Campus Church;
Others to reconcile us to the community.

We searched for a group to help us decide,
To meet our crises with us:
A K group, our SST group, Howell House,
Or just the kids on our end of the floor.
Somehow we made our decisions and went on to new crises.

Registration,
You wait in line, pick your courses,
Arrange your schedule to avoid an 8 o'clock,
Ask for used books but get a whopping book bill anyway.
The excitement of the beginning week wears off
And you find yourself taking fewer notes,
Looking out the window.

Book learning isn't the only kind.
By watching, following instruction,
By good old trial and error
We accumulate such basic skills as Giving a shot
Or maintaining balance on the unevens.

The bell rings: 8:45 a.m.
Books and papers rattle.
Last words go unheard.
The bell rings: 8:50 a.m.
People stream from everywhere.
Stragglers and non-attenders pay a penalty.
The bell rings: 9:00 a.m.
The C-C is filled.
Reports.
Discussions.
Panels.
Lectures.
Dialogue.
Drama.
Music.
The bell rings: 9:20 a.m.
Bodies squirm and feet shuffle.
The nod is given.
Convo is over.

Friday, the 13th.
Ecological teach-in.
Prophets of doom.
Griffing—Heffner—Chiscun.
With no alternative
we attended.
The issue was urgent.
Some were concerned, others slept.
Those who listened learned.
"Our Environmental Crisis."
It is something we made and something we must now correct.
The balance of life is being warped.
Science and religion are not cooperating.
We must act.

SST is a step toward understanding ourselves—what there is within us that allows us to become tucked-away people and what then allows us to creep out of our inhibitions and recognize ourselves. We gain self-reliance through experiencing the frustrations of communication, through coping with our inadequacies, and through distinguishing life's priorities. Ultimately we adapt.

. . . the loneliness of being alone.

SST is a step toward understanding people. Through service we see our need for others. Warm, friendly people evoke partnership and kinship. Labels like "faculty," "Haitian," and "foreigner" are replaced by "friend." SST brings universal acceptance and concern. Though former SSTer's vary in their opinions from "ideal" to "never again," they all learn something about people.

SST is a step toward understanding another culture. G.C. offers an opportunity to share with and benefit from a young developing nation, Jamaica or Nicaragua, Haiti or Costa Rica, Guadeloupe or Honduras. Mud huts, rice and beans, cold showers, a new language, and easy-going people all become a part of us. We return to our fast-moving society with a new perspective on life and its changes and styles.

K-group: Chris Nightingale, P. Mark Smucker, Audrey Noblit, and Rick May.

Campus Church filled a need on campus by becoming a loving community centered around Christ. There was room in this community for the committed and the searching person. Small groups formed with a task focus. Drama, dialogue and discussion raised our questions, made us think, and helped us toward answers. To be the church — this is our call. Campus Church made it a little more clear.

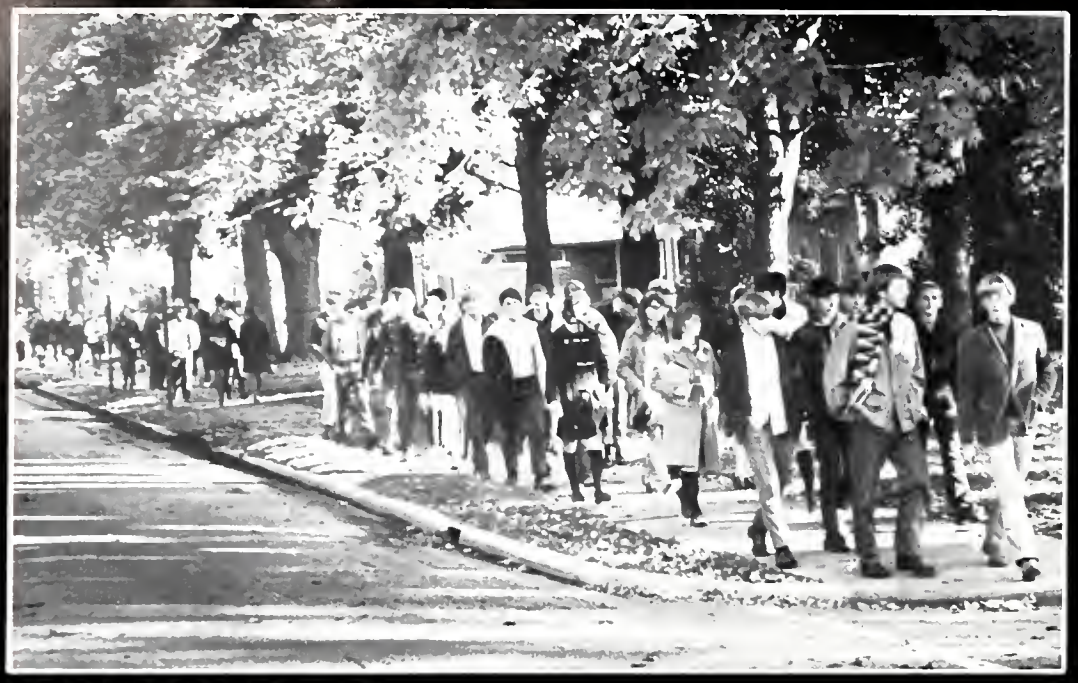
To promote better city/college relations GCCG formed Communicana Commision — a new committee to work through local mass media to communicate opinions, ours and the townspeople's, and to present the needs of the Elkhart area to Goshen College students.
The premise: effective communication leads to understanding.



Goshen High School students coming to the Moratorium

October 15, 1969—a day of growth and awareness.
Through films, poetry, and music,
we were made sensitive to the pathos of the war.
We became involved in its sufferings.
We are "a bunch of confused, sad, but hopeful people, searching together for something true, for some relief from the evil of war and destruction." (Dave Toews) So we wrote letters to our Congressmen and we canvassed the community to inquire into their minds—to spread awareness that hopefully will not permit apathy.

WORK FOR PEACE

November 15 Moratorium
Washington D.C.

A world listens:
"All we are saying is give peace a chance."
A time to heed:
the voice of multitudes
Dr. Spock
Senator McGovern
Arlo Guthrie
a muffled cadence of order in the March of Death An incentive to participate:
"It was impossible merely to observe the slowmoving candles now coming in endless procession. One was forced to stay to commune and mourn and perhaps even to suffer."
Devon Leu
A meaning for all:
cooperation despite diversity the weight of numbers the power of peace
A world is aware.

We need not go on SST to have unique experiences.
Hurricane Camille left her mark on the lives of Mississippi people and some of us went South.
Students and faculty saw need.
A few realized they must do something.
Awareness and a restless conscience led to a week's absence from classes or Christmas vacation at home and to things like saws, hammers, and nails.

Rehearse.
Over and over.
Louder,
You're not projecting!
Memorize.
Cue.
Not "upon," just "on."
I need an accent.
Too heavy.
Work on it.
What does it mean?
Think.
Who am I?
Rhetoric or real?
That thesis for Monday!
You're not trying.

Entertainment with finesse.
For this we gladly sacrificed week nights and A-seat prices.
Tragedy and comedy.
Voice and instrument,
We listened,
absorbed,
identified.
We soaked up culture.
We applauded for more.
We anticipated the next.

We waited and watched,
then finally it came.
Slowly it took shape—
Each piece meticuously assembled.
And one day—music.
Powerful, enveloping music.
Soft, quieting music.

Whether at the college cabin or at the soccer field, during a night of dorm invasion or a performance in the Drain, we came together,
left behind lab practicals, research papers, book reports, and enjoyed each other.

Andy Robinson

Two together:
walking at dusk studying in the grass tandeming through campus talking in the carrels laughing at the snackshop meeting at the p.o.
The place doesn't matter.
We are two together.

Faulty rails,
then rumbling noises,
and G.C.'s event of the year took place.
Railroad cars sprawled

Deep, ugly scars.
Hoards gathered.
Students collected.
Mass media publicized.
The imminent had occurred.

Sports mean participation, sweaty players and sweaty crowds.
We train and drill.
We act with 5 seconds left.
We drain our minds.
We drain all systems.
Tension is there, but we usually manage—the pain, the pleasure.
We endure it all.
Some want to shape up.
Others, get involved.
Some just want to do their thing.
The players compete,
and the crowd impels.
Sometimes it works
just the opposite.
We run the 440,
hit the boards,
rack up the points,
and occasionally
we set records.
We use teamwork and succeed.
We are proud.

Hoosier Hysteria reigned: we took first place in the Mennonite Classic, proved it can be lovelier
"the second time around," felt our pulses rise as Pletch and Wire charged, watched Lyle improve under our very eyes, held our breaths
at Zuercher's long shots, anticipated Moe's return to the starting line-up, finished with a 15-6 record.

Howell House—an experiment in community living.
A low level of community prevailed first trimester.
Second trimester, a spontaneous group feeling developed with caring relationships.
At first, attempts were made for group togetherness:
one meal each week,
sensitivity training . . .
but the attempts were efforts.
Later more attempts were made:
cooking and eating meals together daily, living in closer proximity,
studying in a group seminar . . .
but more important was the desire to be a community.

The snack shop's where it's at.
"The speaker will be

So at 9:30
we throng the mailboxes, wait our turn

We eat, study,
read or write letters.
We question and answer, interact, or simply watch

GOSHEN COLLEGE

In the sixteen years of his leadership,
President Mininger saw Goshen College grow: its student body doubled,
nine new buildings expanded the campus,
five older structures were remodeled,
SST, a vision of his, became a reality.
We remember presidential forums where he answered our silliest questions and tried to bring student-administration relations to a new level.
We remember the call to be a community.
We remember him as our president, who,
with his insight into Christian higher education, encouraged change and met it with wisdom and discretion.

Lucky enough to have pioneered on SST, to have used the new Good Library,
to choose to wear or not to wear a gown, 1970 seniors endured the ceremony of the 72nd commencement.
Commencing what?— grad school and more of the same,
I-W or VS if our lottery number is too low to be safe, teaching or social work.
After mastering the college scene,
we left our status behind.

CULTURE FOR SERVICE

Chris Burketta

The recent life of Goshen College has been one of challenge, initiative, and growth. Thanks should be given to the students, faculty, and friends of Goshen College who have made this achievement possible. To assure the school's continued growth, we must meet the needs of students who value the benefits of a Christian higher education. In viewing the future, we must rely on the enthusiasm and support of concerned persons and organizations to meet these needs.

This is the peace symbol of today. We think its been "in" for 2,000 years.

Mennonites have always protested war, even before it became fashionable.

But Mennonites thought you should go a step beyond protesting.

What's your next step? The World is waiting.

A lot of things happen on the way to church

Hidden things that add up to church furniture which is unsurpassed for beauty and durability. Things like having a choice of pew seats 14", 15" or 16" wide; formed to the body contour or flat. Seats that are 15/16" thickness throughout the entire width and have a plain wooden finish, built-in cushion seat or Twinlife reversible cushions.

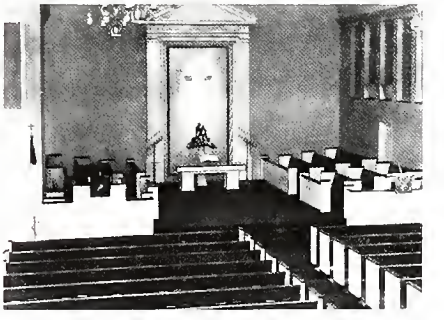
Things like the extra care which Sauder church furniture receives from the craftsmen who so carefully and painstakingly splice joints and add scientifically engineered supports at exactly the right distances to give rigidity and keep the furniture looking lovely year after year. Like the workmen who spend many hours devising ways to improve production efficiency and improve quality while whittling away at costs. Such as the unique and extremely modern finishing line illustrated above . . . a finishing line which applies a perfect finish in a matter of minutes rather than days.

Like the system of having all material including pew body, pew ends, supports, bookracks, card and pencil holders, and other accessories factory assembled in large hydraulic presses. Like having the last coat of finish applied after assembly to completely seal all joints.



Like having carvers who pass their skill along from one generation to the next. Yes, a lot of things happen on the way to church. All of them good when the plans go to Sauder first.
